DIRECTIONS: From the Marathon Station at the Crossroads (i.e. the intersection of Highway

(Trail Head) 350 and Highway 351 (107 cutoff), take Greystone Road south approximately

6.4 miles to the parking area at the corner of Walters Road and Greystone Road.

PARKING: There is a pull through parking area that will accommodate 4 to 5 bumper pull trailers.

TRAIL LENGTH: 1.1 miles | 30 minutes

TRAIL DIFFICULTY: Moderate (Intermediate Riders)

Some steep, some rocks, some slippery footing during wet weather

DESCRIPTION: The trail starts at the parking area, and although it is unmarked at this point it is easily visible. Trail ends at Old Forge Road. The trail is a shaded single track through the woods with a relatively short section of steep downslope with a washed-out section where the sides of the trail are higher than the trail itself. It is recommended the rider keep the horse in the trail and not allow the horse to walk on the sides above the trail as slipping is a hazard. This trail is an in and out trail that is used primarily as an access to longer loop.

SCENIC VIEW(S): N/A

SPECIAL NOTE(S): During wet weather, there may be a small watering hole about halfway down the trail.

CONNECTIONS:

The trail allows connection to Jennings Creek, Poplar Cove, Cowbell Hollow, Davis Creek and Little Jennings Creek Trails. To access additional trails, from this point turn right onto the gravel road and proceed .82 miles to enter Old Forge Campground. On the left you will see a wooden arch over the trail that skirts the campground and a Forestry trail sign indicating trail number 21. Follow this a short distance to a set of concrete "steps" going down to the creek where you will cross and continue the trail, following signage and yellow blazes.
